

Possibilities, possible solutions to change the world :

While reading, you will notice / or you have already noticed
and you will understand / you have already understand what I will explain.

Note : This requires some changes in the ways of thinking.

It existed / still exists at local levels.

It is not utopia.

It's possible, real, it can be achieved.

It should / must be extended, spread, grow to a bigger level, state level, global level, progressively and / or quickly.

There are "clues" or "similar ideas" in a lot of stories, books, novels, movies, comics, video games, and many sites and forums on the Internet, etc.

A lot of you have already discussed, argued, imagined these possibilities in forums or at table, while eating, or while having a drink,
or on a bench in a park, etc.

This needs a change in ways of thinking and behaviors, more giving, donating and sharing than trading or exchanging (I'll try to precise),

No other means of exchange should / must be used to replace money, whatever the type of mean.

Consider the current « system », for example (I hope it's a good example, or choose other examples if needed) and in this example, you'll need a wide view / vision, the view must not be limited to this example, it must be extended to the whole system,

whole also means / includes the entire production chain, supply chain.

Please keep in mind these possibilities are not definitive, they're still a « work in progress ».

So all of this can evolve, change, and I don't have all answers yet,

and all these possibilities, solutions belong to the public, to the people, to everybody in the world,

your thoughts and help are welcome.
Together to change the world, global awareness.

An example, or you can use more relevant examples :

Are you hungry, or do you feel like eating good pastry or bread ?

Or from the beginning = the obligatory, mandatory pre-requisite = to make sure there will always be fruits, vegetables, plants, seeds, grains, cereals, edible raw materials.

Hence the importance to learn, to question, to learn again, try, test, experiment, permaculture, electroculture and other cultures that are the most safe, organic and caring of the environment, sustainable development, limit, reduce, prevent all toxic and chemical risks, toxic fertilizers, dangerous pesticide, etc.

From our example =
You're hungry, you go to the bakery, you wash your hands, take a pastry, no problem.

If your brain isn't sleeping, while reading the previous sentence, you may have thought : "why no problem?" and if you kept in mind one of the first notes = no other means of exchange.

So anybody can go to the bakery, get pastry and eat, for free?

YES !

"How do we pay the baker? And the transporters of ingredients (flour, sugar, baking, chocolate, etc.)?

And the makers of these ingredients?

And the producers of the raw materials? Etc."

As I tried to explain in the first notes = Giving, donating, sharing, and (absolutely?) no exchange or trade, no use of money, no use of any mean of exchange.

For the baker, the transporters, the makers,
producers, etc.

Money is not needed to eat and/or to get the necessary equipment (tools, oven, truck, mill, machine, etc.) for their work.

If they're hungry, if they can AND OR know how, then : they can cook their own food, or get the food for free at other bakeries, restaurants, supermarkets, etc.

That's why I also wrote we needed a wide and global view/vision, including the entire production and supply chain, and beyond!

If you're hungry, you go to the supermarket (there's a scene in the movie "The Host" from 2013 by Andrew Niccol and Stephenie Meyer <http://www.imdb.com/title/tt1517260/>)

you just take and only just what you really need, another pre-requisite = be sensible, rational, humble, moderate, it's important in order to understand the next ideas

And all of these qualities must be taught early to children, education, learning to be humble and respectful.

If everybody can eat without worrying (as in the manga (japanese comics) « Toriko » by Mitsutoshi Shimabukuro), then everybody will be free to do what they want, tasks, activities, occupations, hobbies, interests, whether productive, professional, cultural,

personal, etc.

If people are well-taught and educated, another example =

You want to do some art, decoration; you may need a scissor to cut paper; many possibilities = you already have scissor, good;

or you ask your neighbors to borrow;
if they don 't have, you go to the store, take scissor for free and go home resuming your art.

If everybody trust each other, knowing respect and sharing, even if your neighbor isn't at home, you can enter.

If everybody don't lock their door (unless they're doing something private, personal, ex. : naked, or in the toilet, lol :-) xD), since money is useless, and everybody can eat and have or get what they want, then there is no more steal or robbery.

As I wrote earlier, I don't have all the answers, this project, it's a work in progress, there's a lot of questions and possible answers.

Ex.: what about drug?

If people are well-educated, well-taught, behave, then in theory, drug is useless, and there is no money, and any other mean, any other way of trading or exchanging --I'll need to find a suitable word -- and any other mean, any other way of trading or exchanging is "forbidden"? except "exchanging" of "services" (to define) or advice, tips, good practices, etc.

And it's better to "give" and "share" advice, tips, good practices, knowledge, abilities, etc. instead of "exchanging" them.

If people behave and are responsible for their doings, then let them decide for themselves, free will, they think before doing, they know the consequences, using drug moderately (no overdose) and in private (not in public ? Or only in secure centers such as hospitals, watched and cared by health staff, security team ?), and still no way to exchange and to buy drug.

Drug is free, because money is useless, or from another point of view : drug makers are "paid" by food.

Or forbid or control drug production ?

Same for fire arms, weapons and prostitutes = Free, and only in private, not public, and to control? Who will control? while everybody, each and everyone is responsible, reasonable, sensible?

Since guns and prostitutes are free, there's nothing to trade for, to pay for, because money has no value and is of no use, useless, and trading, exchanging are "forbidden".

Advocate respect,
if a weapons maker says "no, I give you neither gun, nor ammo", or if a prostitute refuses ~~a client~~ a person, the person must respect the refusal, that's why education, ways of thinking and behaviors are important.

Same for alcohol and tobacco, if underage people want a gun or vodka or cigarettes, people tell them "no" if they are "well" and or "properly" and or "morally" educated, taught.

If people are well taught, then no one will take a gun or a bottle of beer to give it unseen and discreetly to underage people.

Since ALL, EVERYTHING (everything we can have in the current system) is available and free, and if people are well-taught, and advocate giving and sharing,

then they will understand, or understood way
before or long ago,

that there's currently too much fishing, useless overproductions of a lot of raw materials, of production goods, intermediary goods and consumer goods,

and they will also understand there are services and current jobs nowadays whose requirement and/or utility will be questioned, challenged, reduced, or become unnecessary, and as a lot of thinkers, sages, researchers, economists, managers, sociologists, scientists,

etc. thought long ago,

then this "new" and "moneyless" system (not really "new", because it existed in various times and places in History) and whose users are taught against waste, squandering, spoils, this "new" system will "self adjust", "self regulate",

better management of the world resources,
more free time to learn, to search, study, entertain, etc.

All of these are possibilities,
There's a lot to think about, this project is a work in progress.

All these possibilities and solutions matter to you and belong to you, you the people, everybody in the world,

your thoughts and help are welcome.
Together to change the world, global awareness.
